SEND SOME SPARKLE OUR WAY – DONATE A DRESS

Treat yourself to a new party dress this Christmas with a clear conscience!

Worried that everyone in your office has seen last year's little black number?
Feeling guilty about that new sparkly frock you've had your eye on?

Capability Scotland is urging women around Scotland not to let last year's dress go to waste at the back of your wardrobe - instead donate it to your local Capability shop.

Nicola Fleming, Capability's Head of Retail, said: "There is a constant demand for new stock in our shops and our donations usually drop around Christmas time as people's thoughts turn to buying instead of donating. Receiving some fantastic party outfits will send some real sparkle our way this festive season!

"That dress you bought last year may have only been worn a handful of times, and could be the perfect party outfit that someone else is looking for. So go on... indulge in some new winter glamour while helping us support disabled children, adults and their families across Scotland.
